

Restoration of Washington Tavern Is Begun

— Hope Star photos

TOP — GROUND WAS BROKEN FRIDAY AFTERNOON ON the project to restore the historic Tavern at Washington — first of a series of constructions which will re-create Washington as a frontier town and tourist attraction.

IN THE PICTURE, LEFT TO RIGHT, ARE THREE OFFICERS of the Pioneer Washington Restoration Foundation: W. H. Etter, mayor of the town and a director of the Foundation; B. W. Edwards, a director and contractor on the job; and Chancellor James H. Pilkinton, Foundation president.

MR. EDWARDS IS SUPERVISING THE CONSTRUCTION work started last Monday, with the official ground-breaking ceremony postponed until Friday because Foundation officials were out of town until then.

A $30,000 CONTRIBUTION TO THE FOUNDATION BY MR. Mrs. W. R. King of Memphis, former Washingtonians, makes possible this first unit of the Tavern.

BOTTOM — TAVERN'S FOUNDATION LAYOUT, IT WILL be a two-story frame building 30 by 75 feet with a double fire-place, one on each floor; and on the east side there will be a porch for each floor. B. W. Edwards estimates this replica of the famous Tavern that played host to most of America's Southwestern frontiersmen more than a century ago will be completed about March 1961. The first unit will be so arranged that construction can be expanded in future years as Foundation finances permit. Donations to the Pioneer Washington Restoration Foundation are tax-exempt, and contributions have been coming in from many persons since the actual start was projected with the Tavern.

Keep Up Sales Volume, Auto Dealers Told

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Automobile manufacturer Benson Ford warned the Arkansas Automobile Dealers Assn. here today that "we should not permit any avoidable risk of industry sales volume."

"Above all," he added in a speech prepared for delivery at the association's final session at its annual convention, "We ought to avoid risking any deterioration in the improved customer relations that have been built up so carefully during 1958 and 1959."

Ford, vice president and chairman of the Dealer Policy Board of Ford Motor Co., said that he year for automobile sales in 1960—a total retail volume close to 1959 except that imports will account for a larger share of total new car sales.

He suggested a retail volume of about seven million new cars, and perhaps slightly more than a million truck sales next year.

And he said a normal market of about 8 1/2 million cars and a comparable increase in truck sales was possible by 1960.

A Third Disc Jockey Quits in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Disc jockey Don McLeod of Detroit resigned today from radio station WJLB, the third performer to leave the station within 36 hours.

Disc jockey Thomas Clay was fired Saturday night and Dale Young, who had a record program on the station's television outlet, WJLB-TV, announced his resignation Sunday.

Harry Lipson, vice president and managing director of WJLB radio, said McLeod's resignation was effective immediately. He declined further comment.

McLeod, 34, was not reached for comment immediately.

McLeod had a daily show from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday. He had been with the station since October 1958.

Clay was fired as part of the station's probe into payola. He admitted he had been paid $6,500 to plug records and explained he did this "because I am human and wanted to give my wife and family security."

His statement came shortly before Young announced his resignation. Young declined to give his reasons for resigning.

Club Plans a Program for Tavern Benefit

To raise money for the Pioneer Washington Foundation the Arkansas History Club will present a skit entitled "The Old Tavern Tells a Tale" written and directed by Mrs. B. B. MacPherson, Tuesday, Nov. 24, in the high school auditorium. Admission will be 10 cents for students and 25 cents for adults.

The cast will attempt to bring to life the incidents and the meetings which preceded the Texas fight for independence from Mexico. The memorable fact of one such meeting was that it actually occurred at the Old Tavern in Washington, Arkansas.

"We would like to emphasize that the public is invited to this program, and we would like to see as many as possible come," says Mrs. Roy Allison, sponsor of the Arkansas History Club.

Sam Houston will be portrayed by Charles Dudley; Stephen Austin, Joe Shepard; Jim Black, Larry Walker; Mrs. Black, Virginia Hornaday and Mrs. Desartes by Brenda Delaney.

Mary Hinkle will be cast as Mrs. Crump; Christine Anderson, Mrs. Johnson; J. C. May, Mr. Desartes; Danny Key, Mr. Crump and Jay Mason, Lyndon Johnson.

Nick Trammell will be played by Terry Lewis; Dave Crockett, Billy Ewing and Jim Bowie, Jeff Powell; Teresa Tullis and Uln Denn Ross will be barmaids; Gail Evans and Mary Knight will be "other ladies"; Billy Cearley and Henry Norvell will be "Crockett's men."

Defendant Asks Venue Change in Bombing Trial

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Circuit Judge William J. Kirby today started hearing a petition for a change of venue for E. A. Lauderdale Sr., accused of bombing the Little Rock School Board building last Sept. 7.

Even if Kirby should deny the defense motion to transfer Lauderdale's trial, the main case won't begin until tomorrow.

Kirby recessed the jury panel called for the bombing trial until tomorrow and said he would devote today to hearing the venue petition, which the state is resisting.

Kirby took the action after defense attorneys told him they had 17 witnesses to testify in support of the venue motion. Prosecutor J. Frank Holt said he had a like number of witnesses.

"Well, that ought to take up most of the day," said Kirby.

Kirby said the motion for change of venue about its main contention was that "every resident of Pulaski County is convinced of this petitioner's (Lauderdale's) guilt."

Holt announced that state witnesses against Lauderdale would include Jesse Raymond Perry, 24; J. D. Sims, 35; John Taylor Coggins, 30; and Samuel Graydon Beavers, 49.

These four men also were charged in connection with three bombings which shook areas of Little Rock on the evening of Labor Day.

The blasts damaged the school board offices, a station wagon of Fire Chief Glenn Bailey, and the business office of Mayor Werner Knapp. No one was hurt.

In a surprise move, defense attorney W. B. Howard of Jonesboro called Holt as his first witness in support of the request for a venue change. He asked Holt why the prosecutor recommended a $50,000 bond for each of the persons accused in the bombings.

"I felt it was my duty," Holt replied. He consistently refused to the high bond, which he admitted was a record for Pulaski County, because of prejudice against the defendants.

The courtroom was crowded today, in contrast to small crowds which attended trials of Perry and Coggins, each already sentenced to three years in prison.

Most of Little Rock's prominent segregationists were in the audience.

These included Dr. Malcolm Taylor, president of the Capital Citizens Council, and the Rev. Wesley Pruden, council chaplain.

Lauderdale's wife and his son, E. A. Lauderdale Jr., a city fireman sat with him before the trial started. They remained in the courtroom after he went to the defendant's table.

If Kirby should grant a change of venue for Lauderdale, the trial would be transferred to Perryville.

The judge denied similar motions on behalf of Perry and Coggins before they were tried.

At their trials Perry and Coggins said Lauderdale was the leader in a bomb plot allegedly aimed at harassing Little Rock for accepting token integration at Central and Hall High Schools.

In their petition, Lauderdale's attorneys said he was singled out "by the integration crowd and the FBI" in the case.

They said they are satisfied of his innocence and would name the "integration crowd" at the trial. Deavers is to be tried Dec. 29. He is charged in the station wagon crash.

Rain Slides in Northwest Block Roads, Railways

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Three slides and rampaging rivers, touched off by a week's deluge with up to 13 1/2 inches of rain, cut cross-state travel to a trickle today and marooned hundreds in lower valleys.

Urgent state-federal rescue operations were under way in many low-land areas of western Washington.

Major rail and traffic routes through the Cascade Mountains were blocked late Sunday, and through the night.

Highway Department crews cleared a circuitous link through the state's midsection shortly after daybreak.

A woman motorist was killed in a mountain pass accident. Scores of other drivers were trapped temporarily by slides.

Flooding rivers forced evacuation of scores of farm families in northwest Washington valleys.

Three railroads diverted traffic over a combined route south of the trouble zone.

The Milwaukee Road's nine-car Olympian—Hawthorne passenger train was caught between slides Sunday afternoon near Hyak, 60 miles east of Seattle. Buses from Ellensburg, Wash., east of the Cascades, reached the stalled train early today and took the passengers to Spokane for transfer to a makeup train for Chicago.

The buses got through on U.S. Highway 10, restricted to one-way traffic near the slide area where the train was caught.

The Milwaukee, Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads all halted trains on regular routes across the Cascades. They combined to divert traffic on a southern route by way of Pasco and Vancouver, Wash.

Highway traffic piled up on both sides of the Cascades as the major cross-state passes—Snoqualmie, Stevens, White and Blewett—all were closed by slides.

Hazel K. Caddell, 64, of Leavenworth, Wash., was killed on Stevens Pass when her automobile crashed into a truck in a slide area.

Several days of heavy rain followed by a warm chinook wind in the snow-covered mountains caused the flooding. Water from melting snow poured a down stream, ditches and ravines in the Cascades.

Volcano Abruptly Ceases Flowing

HONOLULU (AP)—Spectacular Kilauea volcano has abruptly ceased flowing.

Activity stopped Saturday night after a week of natural fireworks in which a fiery fountain of lava spouted to heights of more than 1,200 feet.

Volcanologist Jerry Eaton could offer no explanation for the sudden halt in the eruption which attracted thousands of sightseers. Lava still flowed Sunday but the possibility of a renewed eruption narrowed by the hour, Eaton added.

He said it would take decades for the 100-acre lava bed to cool.

Farm-City Week to Be Observed Here Nov. 23-28

Farm-City Week will be observed in Hope from Nov. 23 through Saturday, Nov. 28. It was announced today by Ed Thrash of the Agricultural Committee of the Hope Kiwanis Club.

Highlight of the annual observance will be Tuesday when a number of Southwest Arkansas farmers will be guests of the local civic club at its noon luncheon meeting. Mr. Thrash will be in charge of the program.

Mayor George Frazier has announced that Tuesday will also be a "parking meter holiday" as part of the local observance. A number of Hope merchants are offering special prices on merchandise, as was the custom last year.

The event is aimed at promoting better understanding between farm and city residents.

Last year's observance, on a national scale, involved the active participation of more than 900 communities in the U.S. and Canada.

Farm-City Week has won the Freedoms Foundation's Distinguished Service Award, which carries the same distinction in the community service field as does the famed "Oscar" in the motion picture field and the "Emmy" in the television industry.

Farmer in a Squeeze, Says Bureau Head

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The president of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation said today the farmer is caught in a squeeze between what he gets for his products and what he has to pay to keep going.

Harold F. Ohlendorf of Osceola said in an interview before the opening of the Farm Bureau's 25th annual convention that the farmer's margin in this squeeze "is so thin that now if a farm has one bad year it takes him several years to recover."

Ohlendorf also said the American farmer is in a paradoxical situation.

The farmer is in a minority, he said, at a time when the total farm investment exceeds that of either the steel or automobile industry.

Greater public understanding of the farmer's problems is needed, Ohlendorf said.

Emphasizing the key role of the farmer, he added:

"Farm news is rarely spectacular unless it involves something like cranberries. But when you stop to think that one farm feeds 22 people today, it's not difficult to foresee what would happen if to many farms were wiped out of production."

Ohlendorf, who addresses the convention later today, said the dwindling number of farmers has caused a loss of political influence on their part.

He said the farmer would have to convince political candidates that his troubles were just as serious as the woes of the steel and auto industries.

About 2,000 farmers were expected to register at the convention.

Stamps Man Gets 15 Years for Slaying

LEWISVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A 57-year-old Stamps man, Richard Wooten, has been convicted of second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Ulice Miller, 51 of Stamps. His punishment was set at 15 years in prison.

The all-male jury in Lafayette Circuit Court deliberated two hours Saturday before returning a verdict. No date for sentencing was set.

Wooten was accused of shooting Miller with a heavy-caliber rifle after the men argued at a fish fry they attended Oct. 17.

dealer and segregationist leader, faces trial in Pulaski Circuit Court today on a charge of bombing the Little Rock School Board offices.

Judge William Kirby first will hear a petition for change of venue and if he denies it the trial will get underway. He has denied similar pleas by two men convicted in the case.

If the petition is granted, the trial would go to nearby Perryville.

Jesus Raymond Perry and John Taylor Rogers, the two already tried and sentenced to three years in prison, testified that Lauderdale led a Labor Day bomb plot. Besides the board offices, the business office of Mayor Warner Knopp and a station wagon at the home of Fire Chief Gann Kelley were blasted. No one was hurt.

The plot allegedly was aimed at harassing Little Rock for accepting integration at Central and Hall High Schools. The integration has been peaceful.

Perry, Rogers and J. D. Sims, who pleaded guilty and got five years, also said Lauderdale furnished the dynamite used.

Lauderdale asked for a change of venue on grounds that prejudice against him was "universal" and that county residents had been "whipped into an emotional frenzy."

fore it was brought under control. The missing included Louise Scott, Negro, who had been hired as a sitter for the 5-month-old son of a resident of the hotel; two unidentified men and a man named Al Cooper, of Peoria.

At least six persons fled from the three-story brick hotel, including Sarah Hawk, the hotel clerk. Police said she was confused about the number of persons in the hotel at the time of the fire and that the hotel's record books were incomplete.

Walter Parlier, deputy state fire marshal, summoned as witnesses for today's hearing James Reynolds, a white attorney who is one of the owners of the apartment, destroyed Sunday.

The three-story building, once used as a hospital, was in, he opened Dec. 1 for Negro occupants in the mixed racial area in this central Illinois city of some 115,000 persons.

Fire Chief Ray Miller, whose men responded to an alarm at 4:24 a.m., said "a kerosene-like liquid" had been spilled on the floors. Three steel drums were found. Two of them were partly filled with an inflammable substance. No one was in the building.

The sprinkler system had been shut off, and some of the pipes had been dismantled.

Reynolds told newsmen he had received five anonymous telephone calls Tuesday. He described them as personal threats but said the building was not mentioned. Several windows in the building were broken Wednesday night and paint was tossed on a sign that advertised apartments and rooms for rent, he said.

Reynolds told reporters that on Thursday, a representative of the Painters Union had complained to Dempsey, the caretaker, about what he called "cheap, dollar-a-hour Negro help."

He said he had union contracts for remodeling the building, but that he also had two maintenance men on a flat salary who painted doors and windows.

told officers. The men drove through Tupelo, Miss., and Memphis and stopped at this west Arkansas town to visit an ex-Army buddy, Clark, carrying the pistol, took Thompson into a coffee shop for breakfast while Garrett looked up the friend.

Later, all three drove to a spot near the friend's house and the pair got out, telling Thompson to "get going." The airman summoned Bock, who returned to the area and flagged down a car carrying the Georgians and the friend.

Clark and Garrett said they were going to Arizona and "just wanted a ride," officers said.

Thompson, who was on leave when the incident occurred, was to return to his base today.

Daniel and W. B. Howard of Jonesboro, have said he was singled out "by the integration crowd" and the FBI in the case. They said they are satisfied of his innocence and would name the "integration crowd" at the trial.

The fifth defendant in the bombings, Samuel C. Beavers, is to be tried Dec. 20. He is charged in the station wagon blast.

Golden 60's Has Wall St. Cautious

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The "golden sixties" are just around the corner—but Wall Street's attitude to them is tinged with caution.

Time was when stock market analysts spoke in glowing terms of the opportunities for profit that lay in the '60s. They based it greatly on the fact that the rash of wartime marriages in 1941-43 produced a bumper crop of babies—and these "babies" would start marrying and setting up homes of their own beginning in the '60s.

They'd want new houses, new cars, new refrigerators, new television sets—all everything a young family wants—and the companies that make these things would enjoy a booming business. Their stocks, too, would soar on the nation's exchanges, it was said.

As the '60s approach, however, they are belittled by—An unresolved steel strike. A possible railroad strike. Strikes in other metalworking industries.

Stiffer interest rates. Increasing foreign competition. A drain of gold from the country.

Apparent Soviet superiority in missiles, and a continued cold war.

Veteran stock market analyst Nelson Gould of Arthur, Wintersberger & Co., a distinctly upper-bracket investment house, looked at these elements and said: "As I see it, the outlook is not good."

For the immediate future, the economy looks overdeveloped and vulnerable. I advise caution in the stock market—keep your funds no more than 65 per cent invested. Save 35 per cent for a reserve."

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange estimated that by 1970 the total goods and services produced by the United States will rise from the top 1956 total of 450 billion dollars to about 700 billion dollars. He anticipates a population of almost 215 million in the U.S.

"The American economy in 1960," he said, "stands on the brink of an incredible decade."

He predicted that the number of Americans who own stock will increase from the present total of 12½ million to 22 million by 1970.

The possible shape of tomorrow is appealing, but achieving it ought not to be oversimplified," said Funston. "For we are also up against stupendous stumbling blocks—an appalling air of complacency, the continued danger of inflation, an unrealistic tax struction after undergoing surgery. His social car partner, Lt. M. M. McCrory, 30, was treated for a deep head laceration.

Police Chief J. C. MacDonald told this story:

Officers C. D. Baloff and F. J. Kallagher surprised the men while they were loading a stolen auto into the trunk of their car. One of the men, later identified as Charles Richard Perry, 34, Danville, Va., walked out a saved-off shot and was taken to the hospital.

Thirty minutes later McCrory and Parks spotted the speeding car and stopped it. The two fugitives stepped out, each with drawn revolver.

Parks drew his gun and pointed it at Bolin. Both men fired almost simultaneously. Bolin's bullet tore through the officer's groin. Parks kept firing as he fell but his bullets went wild.

One of the men then leaped on McCrory, telling him to get out of his pistol.

Leaving the injured lying on the street, Bolin sped away again. The same two policemen and Kallagher, who began.

Rockefeller Hasn't Made Up His Mind

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller going to take the big plunge for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination?

He says he hasn't made up his mind.

But he returned to New York Monday from a four-day swing through the Far West, obviously buoyed by what he found there.

As a result, he looks much more like a potential candidate today than he did a week ago.

Information he received on the trip has given him a new insight into the political picture in the West.

Rockefeller spent two days in Vice President Richard M. Nixon's home state, California, and one in Oregon, where Nixon appears equally as strong. He stopped briefly in Washington and Idaho.

In California and Oregon, the governor expected to find, and did find, blocs of Nixon backers as solid as anywhere in the United States.

But people close to him say he also found a certain amount of uneasiness among West Coast Republicans as to whether Nixon, if nominated, could win the election next year.

Rockefeller won't discuss that. Conforming to political tradition, he merely says, "Whoever the Republicans nominate will be elected."

In the West, he made a number of speeches. Sprinkled through the audiences, except at the strictly Republican party shindigs, were numerous people who identified themselves as Democrats and independents.

Some said they liked him. Some were noncommittal.

He tried hard to erase any image of himself as a political glamor boy, equipped only with charm and good looks.

He says he doesn't believe the

How to Lose - or Win THOSE In-Laws

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My twin brother and I have always been close though we don't see one another often. Out of a clear sky his wife telephoned and said she didn't want to have anything to do with us and was only calling because my brother had asked her to. I thought she was kidding and I said, "Gee, does that go for me, too?"

Her only answer was a stony silence! As an outsider, how does this sound to you or am I so confused I can't make sense?

—Confused

Dear Confused: Believe me, you're not the only one at whom an in-law snipes. Every mail brings letters from readers driven to their wits' end by the same trouble.

In-laws have always been good for a laugh or a cry, depending upon whether or not you let them get under your skin. I find that the best way to handle them is to go your way and let them go theirs. When you do meet, which is inevitable, greet them with a smile and move on to pleasant company.

Next time a mischievous fate brings you and your sister-in-law together, try that, even though you may feel like rolling up your sleeves and grabbing a brick bat.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

If a wife tells her husband to go see his folks and he refuses, should she be blamed for him not going?

When they finally got together, his mother told him to take his choice — her or his wife and child. My husband replied quite calmly that I was his choice.

His mother is all for drowning me. She has never been even half a grandmother to our child. What can I do or say to bring my in-laws together and keep peace in the family? — Worried Mother

Dear Worried Mother: "Love one another" is the solution, of course. But that's easier said than done. If the in-law in this case were anyone but your husband's mother I'd say, "Let her go!" You're on the losing side if you defy a mother — even though she be a hellion. In the end your husband will line up with her.

So, whether you want it or not, you've got to win her over. Do it by degrees. You might begin by sending her a casual gift — a party handkerchief, a pot of African violets, or whatever else you know she likes. Seek out little ways to make her life more comfortable. Be thoughtful of her needs and the day will come when you'll ultimately be one happy family.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Bowl Pictures to Be Cleared During Week

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1958 college football season, an unpredictable and confusing thing from the start, heads into its final stages with almost as many unanswered questions as a soap opera's last act.

Will Louisiana State and Penn State decide today to accept the bowl invitations that already have been preferred?

Can Syracuse, after an extra week of viewing with alarm, survive the really potent threat of UCLA and finish the season as the only unbeaten and untied major team?

So far, only one of the major bowl games is set with two teams. Three others have firm acceptance from one team and one, the Gator Bowl, has a conditional acceptance.

Washington earned the right to represent the West in the Rose Bowl by thumping Washington State 20-0 last Saturday. Wisconsin, surviving an 11-7 squeaker against Minnesota while Northwestern was taking a 28-0 thrashing from Illinois, became the first two-time loser ever to win the Big Ten title. The Badgers were selected Sunday, though not unanimously, as their conference's representative.

Syracuse had accepted a Cotton Bowl bid even before its ninth straight victory, a 46-0 breeze against Boston University. Syracuse is still this week before meeting UCLA, which knocked Southern California from the unbeaten list 10-3.

Missouri earned a place in the Orange Bowl by beating Kansas 12-0 to take second place in the Big Eight behind Oklahoma, which won its 12th straight title. Texas Christian accepted a bid to play in the Dec. 19 Blue-Box Bowl at Houston after whipping Rice 35-0.

Arkansas, discounting its chances for an undisputed Southwest Conference title and an automatic bid to play Syracuse in the Cotton Bowl, already has committed itself conditionally to the Gator Bowl Jan. 2.

Texas can tie Arkansas in the conference by beating Texas A&M Thursday and TCU can do it by whipping Southern Methodist Saturday. In the event of a tie, Texas has the bowl call.

Penn State, despite its surprising 22-7 loss to Pitt, still is first choice for the Dec. 19 Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia and Louisiana State is No. 1 on the list for the Sugar Bowl, which is contemplating a replay of the LSU-Mississippi game. LSU players are slated to vote on the matter this evening.

Georgia, the Southeastern Conference champion, and Clemson, Atlantic Coast Conference winner, Miami (Fla.), Alabama, South Carolina and perhaps some others are being considered to round out the bowl lineup.

Among the non-bowling conferences, Pennsylvania has to beat Cornell Thursday to take the League title from defending champion Dartmouth, which kept its 12-7 decision over Princeton. Virginia Tech and Virginia Military are due to settle the Southern Conference race at Roanoke, Va., Thursday.

The Missouri Valley race, as close as the Southwestern, can wind up in a three-way tie among Tulsa, Houston and North Texas if Tulsa beats Wichita Thursday. Sun Bowl bound North Texas has ended its season while Houston winds up against Washington State.

Wyoming clinched the Skyline championship when Brigham Young upset Colorado State U. 14-13.

Last, but by no means least, come Army (4-3-1) so far this season and Navy (4-4-1). They're not going anywhere except into the usual better struggle against each other. But they'll draw the usual

Porkers Have Easy Time in Win Over Tech

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Razorbacks celebrated their Southwest Conference co-championship and Gator Bowl bid here Saturday in a 27-8 victory over Texas Tech.

Now the Razorbacks relax on the merits of their 6-2 season record and wait for Texas and Texas A&M to decide which bowl Arkansas will enter.

The Longhorns and the Aggies meet at College Station, Tex., Thursday in their annual Thanksgiving Day grudge fight. If the Aggies win or tie, Arkansas will be host team in the Cotton Bowl.

If Texas wins, the Razorbacks will go to Jacksonville, Fla., on Dec. 2 for the Gator Bowl.

It's a nice feeling for coach Frank Broyles and his Razorbacks, who had so many tense moments this season. And Saturday's impressive thumping of the Red Raiders was a fitting climax to one of the best overall seasons in Arkansas history.

This year's edition of the Hogs became the third U of A team to win eight games when it overcame Tech. And All-Southwest Conference halfback Jim Mooley passed the 1,000 yard mark in rushing for his three-year career at Arkansas.

Mooley gained 66 yards, including a 37-yard run that set up the Hogs' last touchdown. He was the leading ground gainer. That gave him 1,033 yards in three years.

Saturday was a great day for Arkansas' sophomores. Fullback Curtis Cox scored two touchdowns on runs of one and 11 yards. Halfback Lance Alworth gained 55 yards rushing and caught a 30-yard touchdown pass from quarterback James Monroe.

And the sophomore third unit conducted itself admirably against Tech, playing the whole fourth quarter and even scoring a touchdown that was called back.

A slam-bang brother act by Jarrell and Darrell Williams broke the Raiders' backs in the first quarter. After Arkansas scored its first touchdown on the pass from Monroe to Alworth, Darrell recovered a Tech fumble on the kickoff. That gave Arkansas the ball on the Tech 35.

On second down, his twin brother Jarrell took a reverse to the left side, cut back across the middle, and went 31 yards for a touchdown. Freddy Akers kicked his second extra point and Arkansas had scored 14 points in 44 seconds.

After that the outcome of the 100,000 crowd at Philadelphia and probably the season's top television rating as well.

game was not in doubt.

Arkansas took a punt on the Tech 40 in the second quarter and marched in five plays for the touchdown with Cox blasting off the right side for the last 11 yards. Akers again converted.

In the third quarter the Razorbacks moved 70 yards after a punt, including Mooley's 37-yard run, and Cox boomed over from the one. Cox carried on the last four plays of the drive, getting the last six yards.

Tech scored its only touchdown in the fourth quarter. Quarterback Glen Amerson flipped a nine-yard pass to halfback Don Gurley, who took it on the Hog 49 and holstered it down the sidelines for the score. Halfback Ronnie Rice passed to Gurley for the extra points.

Tech got the ball into Arkansas territory only twice besides that run. In the second quarter the Raiders drove 52 yards to the Hog 29 before a 15-yard penalty killed the drive. In the fourth quarter they moved to the 42 before Arkansas' Billy Whitfield recovered a Tech fumble.

Arkansas' near-perfect defense held Tech's ground game allowed the Raiders only 52 net yards rushing. The Raiders got 113 yards in the air, including the 50-yard touchdown play.

Arkansas gained 420 total yards to 155 for Tech, and got 21 first downs to a measly seven for the Raiders.

Cox and Jarrell Williams each gained 41 yards rushing. Monroe gained 67 yards in the air and 19 rushing and Sonny Holmes, a sophomore quarterback, passed for 47 yards.

Razorback officials signed a tentative Gator Bowl contract Saturday. It will not be binding if Arkansas gets a chance to play in the Cotton Bowl and Georgia Tech were the two leading candidates for the other Gator Bowl position.

If Texas and Arkansas tie for the championship, Texas will go to the Cotton Bowl on the strength of its 13-12 victory over the Hogs. If Texas, Arkansas and TCU tie for the title, Texas will go because it is the team that has been away from the Cotton Bowl longest. Arkansas went in 1934 and TCU went last year.

Texas Tech Coach DeWitt Weaver said Arkansas was the best team he's ever seen. He said the team has a 4-6 record.

War Memorial Stadium manager Allan Berry was honored before the game. Fans gave him an outdoor motor and a check for an unannounced amount.

The only other years in which Arkansas won eight games in a season were 1927 and 1934. No Hog team ever has won more than eight.

Tech center E. J. Holub, who was released from a hospital Friday after being treated for a sinus infection, came off the bench to get in on 23 tackles. He was the mainstay in the Tech defense and his presence probably kept the score from being higher.

Games scheduled for 1960 will be announced after the first of the year. Guernsey will enter the Hempstead County Tournament at Bleivins, Jan. 27-30.

Guernsey senior girls basketball team grabbed a 43-41 victory in a three minute overtime over Foulke Friday night in the winners' gym. The score was tied 41-41 at the end of the regular playing period. Jo Mosier hit for 25 and Melba Bristow 13 to pace Guernsey. Yvonne Robinson made 20 for Foulke.

Guernsey junior boys lost a squeaker 27-25 with Howard Stewart getting 17 for Foulke. Herbert Farmer led Guernsey with 9.

Foulke senior boys took a 74-39 win with Johnny Barber looping 15. James Cox was high for Guernsey with 13.

Officials were Travis Purtle and Billy Mitchell.

Then it dawned that the scheduled playing date of Dec. 4 is also the date of a basketball game between the Teachers and Arkansas Tech at Conway.

"It's a sure thing that we can't have both of those games going on the same night," said Frank Koon, ASTC football coach and athletic director. "That basketball game is too important to neglect and so is our football game. We'll have to change something."

Koon was hopeful something could be worked out after he talked to other officials. He said it was likely that an effort would be made to switch the basketball game to Dec. 5.

ASTC finished league play as co-champion with Henderson College. Conference officials did not announce the reason for picking the Teachers for the Rice Bowl nor was the vote breakdown disclosed.

Henderson and ASTC fought to a 7-7 tie in their windup game at Arkadelphia last Friday. Each team had AIC marks of 5-0-1. The Bears finished 8-0-1 overall for the season while Henderson's Reddies came up with 6-2-1.

A three-man selection committee is working on the choice of a bowl opponent for ASTC. Koon has the right of veto.

Possible foes include East Central Oklahoma at Ada, Southeast Oklahoma at Durant and Southeast Missouri at Cape Girardeau.

Deaf Mute Tells How He Killed Child

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — Thirteen-year-old George Martens, a deaf boy, used sign language and his untrained voice Sunday to tell how he killed an 8-year-old playmate.

Steven Moscoe pleaded for mercy before he died under a rain of knife blows Saturday afternoon.

Coroner John Johnson said Steven's skull was fractured and he was stabbed 47 times in the head, neck, back and chest.

Martens told police he lured Steven into a clump of timber on the pretext of showing him a dead rabbit, and killed him to get revenge. Steven, he said, had run into George's bike repeatedly and damaged it.

Steven was the son of Marine Staff Sgt. Lawrence Moscoe of Newburgh, N.Y., who is assigned to Olathe Naval Air Station. The Moscoes have two younger children.

George's father, Henry Martens, is an Olathe building contractor. Olathe is on the southwestern fringe of Kansas City's metropolitan area.

Steven left home Saturday afternoon on his bike to play at a schoolground two blocks away. A search was started when he didn't return, and his body was found early Sunday about 200 yards from the nearest house.

Bicycle tracks in the field led officers to question young Martens.

At the scene of the slaying, George demonstrated with up and down motions of his hand how he repeatedly stabbed the Moscoe boy.

Although young Martens has a voice, his words are unintelligible to the average person. An interpreter relayed officers' questions.

Yerger Comes Through With 18-12 Victory

By PAT CARR Yerger High Tigers scored first and went on to defeat the El Dorado Hornets 18 to 12 Friday night in Hammons Stadium in a Big 9 contest.

Warren started the Tigers rolling, returning the opening kick off 47 yards to the Hornets 11. Reed went to the 7 before the visitors recovered a fumble. It wasn't until late in the first period that Yerger's Reed crossed the goal line after seizing a fumble on the 19. Warren had carried it to the one.

The visitors started moving via the airplanes which Reed stopped by intercepting on his own 35 and Edwards hit Knox at the 27. QB Turner and Shaw symphoned an El Dorado drive. Yerger too, was forced to punt. After an exchange of kick, a Yerger drive was stopped. A fumble set up a Yerger score at the visitor's four.

The Hornets scored shortly before the half with the help of pass. Welch picked it over from the four and the third period Yerger line-men, Knox, Criner and Turner and Shaw symphoned an El Dorado drive. Yerger too, was forced to punt. After an exchange of kick, a Yerger drive was stopped. A fumble set up a Yerger score at the visitor's four.

Chapter XXXI

Again the night was oppressive and Sara could not sleep. After tossing several hours, she got up, put on her brown dress and beret and phoned for a taxi.

While she waited she wrote a note.

"Have gone to the Fontes warehouse."

She put the note on her bed and stepped out into the night. The taxi came and she hurried to it.

At the warehouse she looked through the glass of the office door and saw Jose, the watchman, sitting with his bare feet on Manoel's desk. As she tapped on the glass, his chin jerked up off his chest.

"It is the Senhora Volinger, Jose," she called.

Blinking his eyes, he unlocked the door. Al, the beautiful senhora, but sunrise will not come for many hours.

Sara walked in. "I came to talk to you, Jose."

"The Senhora Fontes, he is not here, senhora," Jose sat down again in Manoel's chair and Sara took the one at the end of the desk.

"No, but the Senhora Fontes knows why I am here. I came to find out what caused the fire last spring." If Jose was working with Guaro, she should have said she was on Guaro's side. But it was too late now. Jose had his way of talking and she had hers.

"Will you tell me everything you know about the fire, Jose?"

In an uncomplimentary manner Jose's head dropped forward onto his chest, and she thought he was going to sleep again.

"Rubber, it burns different. Perhaps, if she got him off his comfortable chair. 'Will you show me, Jose.' She stood and went toward the inner door.

"Exactly where the fire started?" Jose reluctantly got up, and his head moved wearily with each step; he pushed the door open and let it swing shut behind him.

"The fire?" he asked, as though she had just mentioned it. "Me, I am not disturbed all night. He leaned on the starway post beyond her.

"Where were the wires that short-circuited?" He raised his head and looked her in the eye. "Why does the senhora not get married?"

She gasped; then smiled. "I don't know many Brasiliros, Jose. Just the Senhora Fontes and the Senhora de Faria. The Senhora Fontes is the finer man, is he not?"

"Al, senhora, but Senhora de Faria, he is the smart man," Jose smiled to chuckle to himself. "He is brave, too. Me, I tell him that there is a rattlesnake in here, and he is not afraid. He sends his men in anyway." Jose laughed aloud. "And he is not afraid of dynamite." He paused to chuckle over this Sara thought she heard a noise in the office behind her; she looked over her shoulder but saw nothing through the glass in the door. "He set fire to the dynamite," Jose was going on, "and the Senhora Fontes, he burned the warehouse with electric wires!"

"Sara was so excited she wanted to shout: Manoel is cleared! Manoel is cleared!"

Jose was fairly shouting himself. "The Senhora de Faria, he is rich with rubber all stolen from the Senhora."

Something slammed into Sara's back and knocked her to her knees. It was the door from the office.

"You fool!" It was Guaro's voice. "You stupid fool!" He cursed Jose with words Sara didn't understand.

Jose slunk around her and Sara, regaining her feet tried to ahead of Jose. But a hand to the closed front of the warehouse and locked her arms behind her back. "Open this door, Jose!" Guaro ordered.

Outside on the pier, Sara screamed. She screamed "Help!" in English first and then in Portuguese. "Socorro!"

Before her panicked brain could fashion the Portuguese word, she had stuffed a handkerchief into her mouth, and he was talking loud, might be listening.

"We'll take a boat ride, quickly, Jose. He pulled her to the float-pier."

With her tongue she pushed the handkerchief from her mouth, but before the first syllable of "Socorro" was out, Guaro had clamped his hand over her mouth. At the edge of the pier only a couple of small canoes were tied up. Guaro leaped into one and dragged her with him, almost smothering it. He flung her onto the bottom and held her there with a bent leg on her chest.

He loosened the mooring rope and, still holding her down, paddled the canoe out into the harbor, away from the warehouse.

Finally he dropped the paddle to the bottom of the canoe. "You could yell for help all night and no one would hear you."

He moved his leg and she quickly raised her shoulders and pushed with her feet trying to get up. But Guaro pushed her back.

"My elegant senhora, it's a shame to drown you. But you should have known that you couldn't be smarter than Guaro de Faria."

Sara had to get free. She made her body as limp as she could. He sensed her relaxation and loosened his pressure. She turned her head sideways and, supporting herself with her elbows on the boat floor, turned her face with his hands and kissed her squarely on the mouth.

Change Would Let Strikers Have a Vote

By STUART ROTHMAN
General Counsel
National Labor Relations Board
Distributed by UPI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A far-reaching effect on labor-management relations may result from the new Taft-Hartley amendment which permits employees out on a strike for wages or other economic aims to vote in NLRB representation elections even though other employees have been hired for their jobs.

This right to vote for economic strikers is the fruit of a campaign begun by President Eisenhower in 1950.

Under the law before the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947, replaced economic strikers as well as the employees replacing them were allowed to vote in board elections.

The Taft-Hartley law prohibited replaced strikers from voting. Unions had condemned this as a "strike-breaking" provision and President Eisenhower agreed it should be changed.

Congress in the new amendments gave replaced strikers the statutory right to vote. They may vote in any NLRB representation election held within 12 months after the start of the strike. Then right to vote is subject to "such regulations as the board shall find consistent with the purposes and provisions" of the law. Under this, the board may well conclude that strikers who engage in serious misconduct during the strike should still be barred from voting.

Rotary Told About Turkey Day

Left to Right: Dr. L. T. Lawrence, Dr. John McClanahan, Rev. Ira Stanphill and the Rev. W. C. Land. At Friday's Rotary luncheon Dr. McClanahan outlined the origin of Thanksgiving to the club and the Rev. Mr. Stanphill played and sang. The program was presented by Terrell Cornelius. Guests included H. L. McAdams and E. M. Jones of Texarkana.

The law has always permitted an employer to discharge a striker for such misconduct.

Clothing Provision Limited
The other major changes made in the Taft-Hartley Act by new amendments which I have not discussed are:

1. The building industry exemption from the "hot cargo" ban to permit employers and unions in this industry to make agreements restricting "contract or subcontracting of work to be done at the site" of the construction or repair. However, it appears that building trades unions cannot strike to enforce such agreements.

2. The provision permitting the building industry to make agreements which set up union-operated hiring halls and require employees to join the union within seven days after they go to work.

This section also legalizes union contracts in this industry made before any employees are hired.

3. The clothing and apparel industry exemption from the "hot cargo" and secondary boycott bans as to contracts governing the subcontracting of work. Under this provision, unions in the clothing industry may make agreements requiring that work contracted out go to firms with which the union has contracts. This exemption, however, is limited to situations where the subcontractor is "working on the goods or premises of the employer or manufacturer or performing parts of an integrated process of production." The clothing unions may strike to enforce such agreements.

Uncertainty Over Exemption
Uncertainty has already arisen over the building trades exemption. After adoption of the law, one of the Senate members of the conference committee of Congress which drafted the new amendments said that this exemption was meant to apply to any work that "could be" done at the construction site. A House member of the conference committee immediately rose to differ, declaring that it applied only to work "actually done" at the site.

These differing interpretations make a big difference as to what kind of agreements unions and employers in the building industry can lawfully make. But from this point, the issue goes to the general counsel, the five-member National Labor Relations Board, and ultimately perhaps to the top federal courts.

We now have the ball, and we shall all try to carry it to the goal Congress meant.

Conerly and Unifas Keep Winning

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charley Conerly and Johnny Unifas are steering their teams toward a replay of last year's annual Football League championship.

The 33-year-old Conerly, a veteran of 12 pro football campaigns fired a New York second half rally with two touchdown passes Sunday as the Giants whipped Chicago's Cardinals 30-20 and took over sole possession of first place in the Eastern Conference.

Still hobbled by the ankle injury that had sidelined him for two games, Conerly pitched 33 yards to Frank Gifford and one TD and Archie, a 45-yarder to Bob Schneider for another score to erase a 14-13 Cardinal lead.

Equally adept at the quarterback post, the 26-year-old Unifas led Baltimore to a 45-14 thumping of San Francisco. The triumph enabled the defending champion Colts to deadlock the 49ers for the Western Conference's top spot.

The Giants now lead the Eastern Conference pack by one game over Cleveland and Philadelphia, who are tied for the runner-up position with 6-3 records.

The Browns were kayced by the Pittsburgh Steelers, 21-20. The Eagles edged Los Angeles 23-20.

Holiday Entertaining

The traditional Twelve Days of Christmas, famed in song and have generally come to mean the six weeks at the end of year.

During these weeks friends are welcome to drop in casually, or without a special invitation. Keep on hand several varieties of interesting snack treats and a generous jar of real mayonnaise. With these basic ingredients, plus a little of this or that to add in the refrigerator or on the emergency shelf, it is easy to prepare in minutes a colorful tray of pass-around goodies to go with tea or coffee, cold drinks or a sparkling punch bowl. Here are a few suggestions, and many others will come to mind.

Roquefort Cheese Balls
1 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese
1/2 cup package cream cheese
1 tablespoon real mayonnaise
1 Paprika

Mix all ingredients, except paprika. Shape into balls. Roll in cheese and chill. To serve, pierce with very thin pretzel sticks. Yield: 24 cheese balls.

Mustard Franks
Cooktail frankfurters into quarters lengthwise. Arrange into piles on Shredded Wheat Wafers. Combine 2 tablespoons mayonnaise with 1 tablespoon mustard-with-horseradish and 1 teaspoon pickle relish. Spoon into center of triangles. At serving time, broil until frankfurters are brown. Yield: 24 canapés.

Egg-Mayonnaise Dip
1 hard-cooked egg
1/2 cup package cream cheese
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
1 teaspoon paprika
Salt and pepper to taste

Chop egg through a fine sieve. Add remaining ingredients and well. Chill. Serve as a dip with potato snack crackers.

U. S. Is About Ready to Cut Back on Aid

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is nudging the Allies to share the big daddy role. Since World War II this country has shelled out more than 68 billion dollars in foreign aid of all kinds.

The administration is also beginning to talk of the pullback of American troops from Europe. Not immediately, according to Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy, but eventually.

Both Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Undersecretary Douglas Dillon have joined President Eisenhower in calling on the Allies—in Japan and Europe—to join this country in a stepped-up drive of aid to backward nations.

This idea isn't likely to encounter much opposition in this country but an attempt at a troop pullback any time soon will touch off a fiery fight at home.

The administration could argue in defense of a troop withdrawal that the only real defense of Western Europe lies in missiles and that NATO defense will depend less and less on ground forces.

But Premier Nikita Khrushchev has been calling for withdrawal of both American troops and bases from Europe.

No one here is suggesting abandoning United States bases in Europe since the planes and missiles there are the main deterrent to any Soviet aggression.

But the advocates of a strong NATO — the Atlantic Alliance — would probably interpret a troop pullback not only as an appeasement of Khrushchev but a return toward American isolationism.

They could argue that the troops are not only needed on the Continent—to help swell the size of the Allied ground troops—but that their very presence there is assurance of American solidarity with the Allies.

Even now, before Europe is thoroughly guarded with missiles of various ranges, the NATO ground forces apparently are only a shell of what they are supposed to be.

On paper NATO has 21 1-3 divisions of 425,000 men. Actually, they probably have no more than 250,000 men. There are 20 Soviet divisions in East Germany alone, with 400,000 men. In all, the Soviet Union has about 170 divisions.

Not long ago, when the West was worried the Soviets might try to cut off West Berlin, Eisenhower himself expressed doubt NATO ground forces could stop the Soviets, and he emphasized the West's main weapon was in the air.

Although Khrushchev has proposed complete disarmament, that's a long way off. This week he reminded the West that if anyone was getting soft it was the West, not the Soviet Union.

He boasted to a group of Soviet journalists that Soviet rocket power is so tremendous it could blast any nation off the face of the earth now.

"Some in the West claim," he said, "that the Soviet Union has changed its policy and therefore it has become easier to talk with us. This is wrong, of course."

He suggested that any brightening of peace prospects was due rather to a change of heart among the capitalist leaders.

Continental Look Is Here to Stay

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The "continental look" in the men's clothes appears to be a permanent thing, according to many delegates at the 100th semi-annual convention of the International Assn. of Clothing Designers. It is described as an American creation which includes some Italian ideas featuring "a shorter, cut, narrow pants, side vents, rather square shoulders, narrow lapels and a rounded coat front."

Indians Charge Threats to Reds

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian Foreign Ministry today charged that Chinese Communists used "pressure and threats" to extort statements from 10 Indian policemen captured during a clash in the disputed Ladakh region of Kashmir Oct. 21.

The bodies of nine Indians killed in the clash were turned over to Indian authorities along with the prisoners last Saturday.

There are lots of other examples of TV shorthand. Look closely and make your own list.

CBS must have scouted far and wide to find a personality who, it hopes, will creep into the hearts of the morning TV watchers as did Arthur Godfrey. Obviously, they think they have found him in Red Rowe, who Monday made his network debut at 10 a. m. Rowe not only is reported to have red hair, but plays a guitar (it looks like a big ukulele) and sings agreeably, talks soothingly, informally and with mild humor.

He comes to us with a bunch of regulars—a girl singer, a boy singer and a small orchestra. Red wanders around making mild jokes and general pleasantries with them and everybody on the show laughs uproariously. If it all sounds familiar, it is—a carbon of the old Godfrey show.
